

To John Bruce

1844.

My dear Sir

Many thanks for your Coke, which is curious, & not least your own remarks, particularly about his daughter Francis.

In what work did
it appear? for it seems to me part of some larger work.

Thanks too, for your note illustrating

Stamp
a passage in Twelfth Night. Have you ~~any~~ any more such
to give away?

If I sent you a query or two respecting my notes on some doubtful passages, would you give me your opinion upon them? — I mean
of course at your leisure. Your acuteness & knowledge would stand me in no little stead.

A copy of the fine Miracle-plays (of which only 25 impressions were taken off) accompanies this note. You are most welcome to it. I think of printing two or three other trifles when I can find time - not exactly of the same kind.

What think you
of this? Since I published my "Hist. of Dram Poetry & the Stage", I have found many other papers &c illustrative of the subject.
Of these I should like to make a volume for the Shakespeare Society. I am afraid I could not combine the matter always very conveniently, but I do not want it to be lost. Neither would it do, in point of size, to go with my three volumes.

Yours sincerely
J Pollier
